LinkWear® CORE

LinkWear is a wearable communication system that delivers staff-to-staff, guest-to-staff, and data partners-to-staff messaging. Send data to the right person at the right time for improved guest and staff satisfaction, operational efficiencies and labor savings.

Introducing the Future of Staff Notification

Core is the hardware and dashboard component of the LinkWear Ecosystem and works independently of your network. It features wearable notification smart bands, a smart hub, optional call-buttons and guest paging.

Why LinkWear?

- Mobilize preset and custom messages to staff and managers onto a discreet Smart Band.

- Improve guest satisfaction by providing faster, more accurate service.

- Improve operational efficiencies and increase table turns.

- Integrate with current JTECH Pagers enabling custom solutions to meet each customer's unique needs.

- Send discreet, targeted messaging without distracting or interrupting managers or staff when serving customers.

How Does It Work?

LinkWear Core is a self-contained communication network. SmartBands are assigned to Staff and Staff are assigned to Roles. For speed, there are predefined messages that can be sent to the Smart Band with the tap of a button on the tablet. Custom messages can be sent to one or multiple people as well. Touchpoints on the Smart Band allow the recipient to send a response to the dashboard. The system operates with one tablet, or you can add others in different areas. Options include Call Buttons, Guest Paging and Range Extenders.
